Odds are stacked against casino gambling in Romulus

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Should the dice ever roll in nearby Detroit, chances are pretty good the city of Romulus won't be cashing in their chips.

Last week, members of the Romulus City Council adopted a resolution strongly opposing the creation of a casino control commission as currently being studied in Senate Bill 88 by Michigan State legislators.

"It's time to go on record in opposition to casino gambling in Michigan and especially Detroit. Michigan has a great many attributes. Tourism should be enhanced. Our state is blessed with beautiful country and a good climate. Our industries and work force are already strong and can be strenthened," said Mayor Beverly McAnally.

She admits concern about the rumblings of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young and his recent decision to pursue the creation of a commission to look into the possibility of casino gambling.

"No question it would damage our community," she added. "My feelings are Coleman Young has had casino gambling on his mind for some time. Should gambling be allowed in Detroit, 90 percent of the potential customers would pass through the city of Romulus. I'm not, nor is the city, prepared to deal with this element. We're not sophisticated enough nor ruthless enough. Romulus should go on record early in oppisition against it," she stated.

She cited the Atlantic City experience where residents received "very little benefit where gambling is very much apart from the rest of the city. Everything I ever heard or read about Atlantic City, said the benifits from gambling were a bust."

"Legalized gambling would dimish all the things Michigan can do better than anywhere else just because it looks like easy money. I don't want to get into the moral issue, but gambling is not what I ever envisioned for the city of Romulus," said McAnally who admits the many city hotels would serve as prime gambling sites.

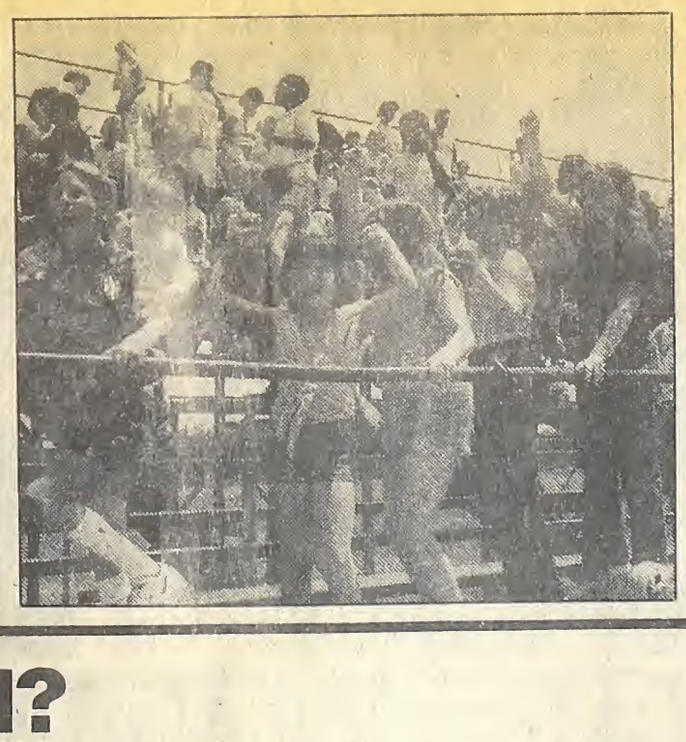
One person on the Romulus City Council voted against the resolution. "I think we should look into it," said Councilman Pete Bergeron.

"I'm against casino gambling in the city of Romulus. But I'd like to know what impact gambling would have on the city and I think the casino control commission can look into it. Look what the state of Michigan is doing with the Lottery where the little guy is tring to hit the big numbers," he said.

Gambling would bring needed revenue into city coffers, Bergeron added. "And I would just like to listen to what the commission would have to say. We just don't know all the facts. I do know however, the city of Romulus could not handle it."

It's a field day

The annual field day for all fifth and sixth graders in the Romulus school district took place at the Junior High School track field last Friday. Students from Wick School were the winners in both age categories. Events included running, jumping and tugging. One winning member of the 440 relay who came from Cory School was Eric McCray, 11, pictured below. Tug-of-war winners, losers and strugglers all had fun. Physical Education Teacher Bill Cuhran coordinated the outside activities. ANP photos by Bob Denys



Mobile home park proposed; local residents cry foul

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The proposal for a 76-acre mobile home park north of Wick Road and east of the railroad tracks did not catch Romulus residents by surprise. They intend to fight it all the way.

The owner of Mike Building Company, Michael Tobin, attended a public hearing of the Romulus Planning Commission on Monday. He requested that particular parcel of land be rezoned from multiple family use to a residential mobile home district. Two hours of questions and answers from officials and residents provided members of the commission with the background. They voted not to make a decision but to continue to investigate the $16 million project.

According to Tobin, who is purchasing the property from Manufacturers Bank, the development will be a "high quality park" with 430 individual lots. There will be one entrance with a guard and an emergency exit for security purposes, he said.

Members of the Romulus School Board and Superintendent William Bedell recently drafted a letter which was presented to the commission. In the letter, Bedell said, "The development of a large trailer park facility would become a financial burden on us."

"We need single family homes in the city. This is one of the nicest residential areas in the city."

He pointed to a "serious classroom space problem in the elementary schools," specifically in the northern part of the district where there are presently only three schools operating. He added it would cause overcrowding in secondary schools, "especially the high school."

"At this point in time, the Romulus Schools major hope for financial stability is to become an "out of formula" school district," he added. "Out of formula" schools are much less dependent on state money and more independent, Bedell had noted.

He also added that the tax yield would not be as great as it would be from other types of land use.

"We need single family homes in the city. This is one of the nicest residential areas in the city. And there aren't many left. Let's keep the good one

What is a best friend?

Local students have good companions

The most important thing about having a friend, according to Michelle King of Romulus Junior High, is to be a friend yourself. "That is the most important thing of all," she said.

Several seventh and eighth grade students recently completed a short essay answering the question, "What is a best friend?" One individual was selected from each class as representative of their fellow students, by an impartial observer, the Romulus Roman reporter. School officials awarded each of the two students a $25 savings bond.

The decision was tough. Each essay provided an insight far more perceptive, emotional and mature than could be expected from adults twice their age. These young people proved to have an understanding of friendship.

Guam Lee, eighth grade representative, said his friend lives far away but goes to the same school. "He watches the same shows that I watch. Our favorite is the Cosby Show....I like playing football, and he likes playing baseball. We go for bike rides together in the summer. We like to fight a lot. My friend has a pitbull and I do too. When we go places, if I don't have enough money, he will give me some....." He ends by saying, "This friend is my best friend."

"When ever you see your friend, they bring a smile to your face," added seventh grader King, "no matter what kind of day you're having-....They never judge you or never put you down for what you believe.

"A best friend is someone that you can depend on and they can depend on you...They can be called on anytime day or night.

"But you must always remember, to have a friend you must also be a friend. This is the most important thing of all. have a good heart and an open mind and be the best friend that anyone can be. Be honest and helpful and you will be treated in the same way."

School board election slated

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Both the incumbent and challenger are ready to run for the one vacant seat on the Romulus School Board after lawyers for the school and State of Michigan approved their eligibility.

Problems surrounded the filing date of petitions of both candidates. Incumbent Jo Ann Marvicsin and challenger Howard Kesner dropped off the necessary signatures in the Romulus Clerk's office within minutes of each other on what they had been told was the last day to file.

But it was the wrong day as the deadline date was one week earlier. According to state law, their names could not be included on the ballot for the annual School Board Election this Monday, June 6. The term of the vacant seat is four years.

"It's all straightened out," said Linda Choate, city clerk. "The election will proceed as usual, as a result of a legal opinion from the city and state attorneys. They confirmed both candidates filed their petitions in good faith. It's not like we were trying to give an advantage to one or the other. We just made a mistake."

See page A-3 for information and a profile about the two Romulus School Board candidates.

Lori Orsini, 25, of Romulus hopes to be selected a future employee at the Lear Seigler Plant in Romulus. She was one of over 1,000 individuals who filled out applications last Friday at the Progressive Hall on Ozga Road. The company is presently expanding their general seating facility on Ecorse Road. Mike Balser, director of industrial relations, explained that only about 160 job openings are available. ANP photo by Bob Denys

Bartley named 'woman of year'

Members of the Cloverleaf Chapter of the American Business Women's Association had little trouble in selecting their 1987 Woman of the Year. Vi Bartley, who has been a member of the chapter since 1978, received all of the votes submitted by fellow members.

After reading the letters of nomination, Chairperson Loretta Jenkins read the following reasons for Bartley's selection, "For your enthusiasm in striving to build a bigger and better chapter, for your loyalty and dedication, for your willing and innovative approach in all fund-raising activities and for being on committees and chairing almost every committee and for your good will toward all."

Bartley has served on every committee either as a member or chairman and has attended two national and three regional conventions. For the past three years Bartley has put out the bulletin for the chapter. In addition to her work for the ABWA, Bartley works two jobs and performs volunteer services for U.A.W. retirees.

The honoree is employed as a security guard by Midwest Patrol and has worked 32 years for Chrysler Corp.

Bartley, a native of Tennessee, is the mother of three sons and one daughter and the grandmother of four. She enjoys babysitting, good movies and taking care of her home.

Report made

In a report submitted to the Belleville City Council, Fire Chief Anthony L. Talaga Jr. noted three fire runs during the last quarter. There were no reported losses.

One incident was an auto fire, another was a grass fire and the third was a false alarm. The firefighters also had three practices during the same period.

McGinnis was civic, parks activist

Mary Fitzgerald McGinnis will long be remembered as one of the most popular teacher in the Detroit school system. The former Romulus and Belleville resident died May 26. She was 89.

She was born in Chicago to Richard Fitzgerald and Margaret McDonnell on Feb. 1, 1898. Her family moved to southwest Detroit where she was raised. Her brother John Fitzgerald and sister Catherine Coash died several years ago.

McGinnis attended Cary, McMillan and Beard schools. She graduated from what is now Wayne State University, and from 1919 until her retirement in 1964 she taught at Beard Elementary School.

She is fondly remembered by students, family and friends for her kindness, understanding, patience and Irish sense of humor. Over the years, she taught the children and grandchildren of many of her first students. In 1956, she was honored as "Teacher of the Month" by the Detroit Education Association. In 1934 she married Anthony McGinnis who was postmaster of Romulus Township when he died in 1957. She is survived by several nieces and nephews including Geraldine Wooden and Gertrude Kerentoff of Romulus and John Sterling of Canton.

Funeral services were at St. Anthony Catholic Church in Belleville. She was buried in Michigan Memorial Park in Flat Rock. Arrangements were made by Baum Crane Funeral Home.

Police force adds 2 new officers

Two new officers, the top shooters in their class, were sworn into the Romulus Police Department by Mayor Beverly McAnally last Thursday in city hall.

Dennis Felice, 37, of Romulus graduated from Wayne County Sheriff Academy while Dwayne DeCaires, 27, of Lincoln Park graduated from the Detroit Metropolitan Police Academy.

Felice recently completed three years on the Romulus Ordinance Department. "This is a whole different ballgame," said Felice who has lived in Romulus for the past 14 years.

Both officers are married and both have two sons. Felice earned "top dog" status as the best shooter in his class. DeCaires came second in his class. Both officers will ride with a senior officer during their first year on the force.

Police Chief Charles Wilmoth witnessed the event. Wayne DeCaires drove in from Lebanon, Ohio to share this important moment with his son. "This is one of the happiest moments of my life," he said.

"I've wanted this for a long time," said Felice. Mayor Beverly McAnally shakes hands with Dennis Felice while Dwayne DeCaires is congratulated by his new boss, Chief Charles Wilmoth.

that are left," said Sheri Hicks who helped gather almost 400 petition signatures from fellow residents in opposition of the mobile home park. She sat among over 50 people, many who voiced their opinion during the occasionally volatile meeting.

"Traffic on Wick Road is already a problem," said one resident.

Another resident who lives on Tobine in an 120-year-old house said, "I can feel the vibrations from trains on the railroad in my house. What will happen next door in a mobile home?"

"Probably feel it less," came the response from Tobin.

Residents expressed concern about the caliber of residents who would live in the park.

"They have to be quality residents. We don't want problem people," he said.

"Our taxes are a burden already," said another resident noting trailer park residents don't pay local property taxes. The mobile home company where they lease their space does, however, pay taxes on 50 percent of the assessed value of their property.

Donald Treder, chairman of the planning commission, said, "We have to study every avenue. There's no easy yes or no answer. We might be against it but at this time, the mobile home project need more discussion."

Members of the planning commission will meet again at 8 p.m. on Monday, June 15 in Romulus City Hall.

Industrial clinic opens for area residents

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"Health care needs in the city of Romuuls have exapnded with the increased volume of business and industry."

The grand opening of an industrial clinic across from Metro Airport on Middlebelt Road in Romulus last Thursday was just what the doctor and community ordered.

Established by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority and affiliated with Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, the clinic promises to service all local commercial businesses and industries. There are presently only two clinics and no hospitals within the city limits available for local residents.

Romulus residents pay .2 mills of their taxes toward the operation of the five PCHA hospitals located throughout the western Wayne, and eastern Washtenaw counties.

According to clinic manager, Char Toivonen, the 3,000 square foot clinic includes a minor surgery room, testing for hearing, vision and heart, laboratory and x-rays facilities. There is an orthopedic room. The clinic is staffed by a nurse and medical doctor 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The clinic will also offer physical and occupational therapy. "We have the backup and benefits of a full service hospital just down the street. That's our strength," stressed Toivonen as she guided visitors through the brand new facility.

"We will offer Wellness Programs to local businesses," she added.

Pete Bergeron, Romulus councilman and PCHA board member expressed the feelings of many, "This is a tremendous asset for the city. It's been in the planning stages for a year. It answers a need."

Annapolis Hospital administrator Wade Adams added, "Health care needs in the city of Romulus have expanded with the increased volume of business and industry. We expect continued growth in the coming years."

Local band sounds off

The band is also preparing for a special historic trip to Washington D.C. on Michigan Day, June 24.

And the band played on.

The Romulus Junior High School Symphonic Band that is. For the eighth year in a row the band played well enough under Director Dick Kruse to walk away with an "I" rating at the State Festival conducted last month.

"This is an all time high in the Romulus School System," said Kruse trying to contain the pride of the junior high students' accomplishment.

Each of four judges awarded the band a First Division rating. He explained since 1980, out of a total of 114 junior high and middle schools from all of Wayne County, only 24 schools have been awarded the coveted "I" rating. Romulus garnered 11 of those.

"Congratulations for a job well done," Principal Tom Dolan told his students.

Students, parents, teachers, administrators or members of the board of education are encouraged to listen to your award-winning symphonic band at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday, June 4, in the Junior High School gym on Wick Road.

The band is also preparing for a special historic trip to Washington D.C. on Michigan Day, June 24 . They will celebrate the 150th anniversary of Michigan with performances on the capital mall, at the Lincoln Memorial and in the Sylvian Theater.

Of course, the band is selling special commemorative "band candy" which members hope will fund their trip. For information call 722-1050.

Our votes for education

We pay a price for most every aspect of our American lifestyle. And where our children are concerned, we will suffer much to ensure that our offspring have the opportunity to experience a lifestyle equal to, and hopefully better than, our own upbringing and childhood.

Education is no exception to the rule of costs, but the price we pay for quality in this sense can't always be tagged with a monetary value.

Our public school system costs us hundreds and thousands of dollars each year. We supply the teachers, the books, the pencils and the desks for our children to be nurtured and taught the skills to find fulfilling lives and futures. But next Monday we will remit another expenditure of our school system. We will provide the leadership which cannot be quantified in a dollar amount. We will vote for the people who will run our local education systems for the next three and four years.

People. People have the power to transform our schools into manufacturers of talented children, children educated in the basic reading, writing and mathematical skills we all need to survive in this high-tech world. Children who, eventually, will know how to read a novel, learn to appreciate art, grasp teamwork and become human beings filled with imagination, creativity, intuition and moral values.

By the same token, these people have the power to break our schools, break our children's future. Break every one of our most desired dreams.

Today, we urge you to choose among the members of a cast of school board candidates who will somehow, some way influence, no, they will make or break your child's education. Sure, many of you don't have children in school, and some of you never will. And, others of you have placed little importance on the selection of members of a school board. But to each of you, today we ask you to stop and take a closer look at each of the candidates before you. Read their beliefs, think about their goals and decide who among this cast is qualified to hold the reins of area children's education – and our ultimate future – for the next three or four years.

Here are our recommendations for better school systems. Use them to formulate yours.

INKSTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS

☑ Charles Johnson and Ann Coleman, the two school board incumbents, should be re-elected to the two four-year-term seats.

Johnson and Coleman have helped provide a conducive environment for our children in Inkster, and they have earned the voters' confidence for re-election.

PLYMOUTH-CANTON SCHOOLS

☑ Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas Jr., also the two incumbents on the school board, should be returned to their two four-year-term seats in order to finish the work they have already started.

Swartzwelter and Thomas have not flinched at intense public criticism during a most difficult school year in which pornography, witchcraft and satanism have become everyday discussions. Their ability to carry the district through the crisis and equal skills at working with other board members toward fiscal responsibility and a quality education should be proof enough of their commitment to students in the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

☑ In addition, residents should cast a yes vote to override a ballot proposal that would force the district to roll back tax levies by almost 1 mill. Even though Headlee sounds like a good idea, the plan falls short of ensuring that a quality education is provided each year. Property values may be rising in the Plymouth-Canton School District, and more tax dollars might be rolling in, but inflation and the cost of operating the district are increasing at an even faster rate.

ROMULUS COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

☑ Jo Ann Marvicsin should be returned to the board of education here for another four-year term and allowed the chance to implement the many ideas she has proposed.

Marvicsin's ideas of improving the school system financially and in the program offerings seem like positive steps to a better school district. Our only hope is that this incumbent school board trustee speaks up more often in her new term and puts more of her good ideas to use for us all.

WAYNE-WESTLAND SCHOOLS

☑ Teresa Johnson should be allowed to finish the three years remaining in her term. A product of the system, Johnson has proven her dedication to making a better system by coming the aid of all residents in filling a 1986 board vacancy.

We feel that with Johnson's education background and knowledge of the people in the schools, we will all reap huge benefits.

☑ Sharon Scott and Mathew McCusker should-likewise, be allowed to serve again on the school board. These two incumbents outshine their two challengers and should see an election victory as a vote of confidence in the future operation of the system.

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools has earned a reputation that is rivaled by many neighboring districts. It will be up to the new board to strengthen and preserve this positive, community-desired reputation.

WESTWOOD COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

☑ Incumbent Mavis Penn and Barbara McCoy should be elected to the two four-year terms of the Westwood School Board.

Penn is the school district and has provided her services and support for more than 30 years. She should be allowed to continue that mark of excellence.

McCoy is a product of the system and has a working knowledge of the community. She would bring new ideas and programs to the board and students.

☑ In a highly-atypical move, we are asking voters to write in the name of Vivian Flounory for the one three-year seat on the Westwood board. Flounory, who just retired as a counselor from the district high school, has the knowledge and experience to lead the board.

Unopposed candidate Luisa Donfried, we feel, is not fully in touch with the needs of the schools and should not skate her way to victory simply because she is the only candidate in the race.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

☑ Unopposed candidates Robert Fowler, David Fowler and Kathleen Fisher should be elected to the two four-year and one three-year terms on the board.

The rare father-son duo, coupled with the enthusiasm of Fisher, is another example of the sound, responsible school system we have come to enjoy in the last year. We urge the board to keep up the good work and amaze us with even better ideas in the year to come.

Playing house loses appeal

"Babies aren't like puppies. When you get tired of them, you can't put an ad in the calssifieds or give them to your cousin on the farm.

Late spring is the season for proms, parties and planning for summer fun for most high school seniors. It is a time for the pomp and ceremony of graduation, the fun and festivities of the celebrations and the exciting prospect of beginning college or a new career.

That's how it is for most seniors, but not all.

I am acquainted with a young woman who was slated to graduate this year. She should be shopping for a prom dress and planning a graduation party, but instead she is purchasing infant clothes and attending a baby shower in her honor.

There is something incredibly sad about this child having a child – something tragic about her missing out on the last days of her childhood to take on the responsiblities of a parent. Aside from any moral judgements which could be made, she has put a heavy burden on the three individuals involved – herself, the child's father and the soon-to-be-born infant.

Good taste and the knowledge that my input would not be welcomed have prevented me from directly expressing my feelings to the young couple. I am sure that if they read my comments, neither of them will feel that I am addressing them. After all, they are special and they are doing what they want to with their lives. That, I believe, is the most tragic part of children bearing children.

While trying to show their maturity by estabishing a family, they have demonstrated their immaturity by foregoing plans for such "unimportant trivials" as further education, a steady job, savings for emergencies and a two-parent home.

They are, in fact, children playing house.

And, as I remember, it was fun to play house. There were no rent or mortgage payments, utility bills or car repair costs. We made mud pies for supper and, if we argued with our spouses, we just went home to mother dragging our baby doll by the arm. When "house" got too frantic or too boring or too tiresome, we just played another game.

The young couple of my acquaintance is seemingly delighted with the impending birth. They remind me of the way youngsters react to a new puppy. Remember how that was? First, you begged and cried for the puppy and then you told mom that you would feed it, groom it, take it for walks and that, even if it cried in the night, you would get up and quiet it down. Reluctantly, but sincerely you promised mom that you would clean up any dirty spots the puppy made on the rug or elsewhere. Ah yes, there seemed to be nothing more wonderful than having a puppy of your own. But, then, the puppy did all of the things that puppies do – it cried at night, wet on the rug, wanted to go for walks when you wanted to watch television and got hungry and thirsty when you were ready to play. After all, we learned, puppies aren't so much fun after all.

The analogy ends there.

Babies aren't like puppies. When you get tired of them, you can't put an ad in the classifieds or give them to your cousin on the farm. You can't put a ticking clock in bed with them for comfort or a dish of puppy feed in the basement for nourishment.

Children are a precious commodity. They should be wanted, loved and nutured by parents who are not only loving and caring individuals but who are mature enough to establish a home for the infant, to provide adequately for its care – without parental subsidies - and to instill a set of values in the child.

All of those things are difficult –if not impossible – for a child to do. Conceiving a baby does not require maturity, responsiblity or education, but raising a well-adjusted, self-assured and successful child to adulthood does require maturity.

Writer 'cooks up' a healthy story

To The Editor:

I would like to give special thanks to a fine writer, Bob Denys. The thoroughness of his story (Cooking, May 6) and his special flair were very much appreciated. I've received several calls at the station from new viewers who were impressed with Bob's story. Much continued success to a sincere and dedicated writer.

Belleville coverage gets high praises

To The Editor:

I hope that management is as pleased with the improved editorial, pictorial content and community relations of the Belleville Enterprise as we are!

Some owners might reward the community and employee by utilizing such talent elsewhere. Please don't do that. "Put it in their paychecks" instead.

And keep this talent right here in Belleville to serve the interest of these deserving residents and become a more profitable newspaper by increased readership.

Business closing is sad event

To The Editor:

I, too, agree with the person that expressed her ideas about the Value Village closing its store in Wayne.

I cried I was so upset and disappointed. That was one of my main outlets since losing my husband in 1984, recovering from a stroke in 1985 and really enjoying browsing through the items and affordables.

I am on Social Security and found many interesting books.

I have learned in my 75 years to accept that you can't change.

THE 1987 SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Romulus Schools

4-year term: Vote for 1 of 2 candidates

Howard J. Kesner

Kesner, 40, is married and has four children. He has lived in Romulus for 10 years.

He is a graduate of Lee M. Thurston High School and Wayne State University. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Wayne State.

He is employed by the West Detroit Glass Co. He has never been a candidate for public office before.

A member of the Cory Elementary P.T.O., Romulus Parents Area Council, Romulus Arts Council and Boy Scouts of America, Kesner said he is running for the post because he is already involved with the school district and wants to make a greater contribution to the education of children in the district.

Jo Ann Marvicsin

Marvicsin, 48, is married and has three children. She is a lifelong Romulus resident.

She is a graduate of Romulus High School and Wayne County Community College.

She is a housewife.

Marvicsin is currently serving on the Romulus Board of Education and has been serving for nine years. A former member of the Romulus and Barth elementary schools P.T.A. and P.T.O., she has also been a member of the St. Louis School for the mentally handicapped, aid for the Kennedy Foundation for Special Olympics, Downriver Association for Retarded Citizens and Romulus Recreation Commission.

She currently is a member of the Wayne County Parent Advisory Committee, Finance Committee for the Board of Education and Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens.

She said she is seeking the office because she is concerned about the quality of present and future education.

Why do you feel you are qualified to fill the position you seek?

I am qualified, first of all, because I have the best interests of my children. At least, and consequently, the best interests of all the Romulus school children.

I also have a degree from Wayne State University and 15 years business experience. Therefore, my involvement, both professionally and as a parent advocate for quality education, provides me with valuable experience for the position of trustee on the board of education.

I feel that I am qualified because I have been a member of the Romulus School Board for nine years. I have seen the phases and changes of this school system and have gained practical knowledge and experience from handling and analyzing each situation. I have also served on several P.T.A.s and Parent Advisory Committees which have made me aware and qualified to clarify the concerns facing parents and teachers.

What do you feel are the major issues involved in this election, and what are your opinions of each?

The major issues, as I see them, are the financial status of the district and the cuts resulting from this current status. I feel that if I were elected to the board, my contribution could help the district to return to sound financial policies.

I am not convinced that cutting our children's programs is the best way to balance the school district budget.

The major issues involved in this election concern not only the health and safety of our students but the community, as well.

Educating students to the world around them is just as important as the fundamentals of academics.

A major issue in any election is, of course, the use of the budget. I feel that portions of the state budget should be used to fund special programs that impede the learning process and have grown into national concerns. These programs will not only help with these concerns but will involve constant interaction between parents and their children.

Possible programs may include issues such as the prevention of drug abuse and the increasing population of dropouts. In order to educate students on the danger of AIDS and unwanted pregnancies, we must introduce sex education to students in lower grades. Most of these issues are delicate but need to be introduced to students for their own welfare.

Other issues that need more funding are stricter security on school grounds and better programs for college prep students to help them prepare for higher education. Even if students choose not to go to college but directly into the job market, we still need programs to teach them basic, marketable skills.

Van Buren Public Schools

4-year term: Vote for 2 of 2 candidates

Robert R. Fowler

Fowler, 44, is married and has two children.

He is a graduate of Ovid High School. He is employed by JaBo, Inc. of Dearborn Heights as the company president.

He has served in the U.S. Air Force. Currently, Fowler is the president of the Van Buren Schools Board of Education.

A member of the Belleville Area Lions Club and Belleville Tiger Booster Club, Fowler is seeking the office in order to continue working on the programs which "I have been actively working on for the past four years."

David D. Fowler

Fowler, 20, is the son of current school board President Robert Fowler. He is single.

A graduate of Belleville High School, Fowler is currently attending Eastern Michigan University. He is presently employed at Roto-Rooter as a dispatcher/weekend office manager.

Fowler has never sought public office before this attempt. He is seeking the post because "I feel that I will be able to bring a new perspective to the board. I also feel that it will prove to be a valuable experience, being that I am currently in the College of Education at EMU."

3-year term: Vote for 1 of 1

Kathleen J. Fisher

Fisher, 43, is married and has two children.

She has lived in Van Buren Township for 14 years. Fisher is a graduate of Denby High School, Detroit, and Wayne State University. She holds a bachelor of science degree in art education and a master of arts degree in early childhoood education.

She presently works for the Carousel Coop Nursery in Belleville as a preschool teacher.

Fisher, currently a member of the Van Buren Board of Education, was appointed to fill a vacancy in July 1986. The three-year term she is seeking will finish the term which started in 1986.

A member of the Belleville Lioness Club, Van Buren Association for Academically Talented, Michigan Association for Academically Talented and St. Michael Lutheran Church, Fisher seeks the office because "I am very interested in the field of education and have a vested interest in the education in my own children and the children I have taught."

Why do you feel you are qualified to fill the position you seek?

The expenence I have gained over the past four years on the board and operating a business are my only qualifications.

I feel that the fact that I went to school in Van Buren from kindergarten through high school may provide insights that are unavailable to others. I hope to make use of these insights during my term of office.

Another thing that may help me is the fact that I am currently studying to become an elementary teacher.

I feel that I can add an "educator" insight to our board and hopefully be an asset to our decisions. I am new to the board and have much to learn. With my election to the board, I can continue to grow and learn about how our schools work and how best to make them the best possible place for our children in Belleville/Van Buren to learn.

I have been a teacher for 14 years over all, and I want the children of our district to have the greatest education they can get.

What do you feel are the major issues involved in this election, and what are your opinions of each?

There are no major issues involved in this election.

I feel that one of the major issues that is facing the board right now is contract negotiations. I feel that this is one issue that will work on both sides of the table. I do not, however, feel that this is the only issue the board must deal with.

There are many other issues facing school boards all over the country. Among these are dropout rates, teen suicides and substance abuse.

There is no major issue other than the upcoming teacher contract negotiations. Our district has had a good year and hopefully will continue to function with the same smoothness and fiscal stability this coming term.

Students build house for semester project

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

High school students from Belleville and Romulus are pounding the final nails into a house they began building last September.

Students from the Building and Trades Department at both schools will sponsor an open house on Monday, June 8. At that time, the three-bedroom, 1,500-square-foot, brick ranch home at 166 S. Biggs St., Belleville, will be open for public inspection. Instructors Narvelus Pearson and Bill Nagy encourage all visitors and prospective buyers to attend.

The house includes a fieldstone fireplace, Anderson windows, 2 x 6 walls and a high-energy furnace and water heater. Students were repsonsible for the brick work, carpentry, painting and landscaping.

A general contractor dug the basement. Students worked with contractors to install electrical, plumbing and heating and cooling systems throughout the house.

"It's a real learning situation," said Pearson. "And the end product is a house."

The house is the 13th or 14th structure built by the students and the sixth in the local area. Architectural students designed the home. Former models include a quad-level and colonial-style houses.

The homes are sold to the highest bidder. Last year the house, which is located next to the recently-built structure in Belleville, sold for $82,500.

'Sole saver'

Businessman sees decade of change

focus on people

A leather apron hangs from the neck of John Valuet and his knuckles are smudged with shoe polish. Open the door of his Inkster Shoe Repair Shop on Inkster Road in Inkster and step back in time.

Old world machinery similar to that which his grandfather used lines the walls of the 52-year-old business. Shoes of every imaginable size, shape and color fill the floor to ceiling shelves and wait for their owners' return.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: Who has the been the most interesting person that has ever repaired their shoes in your shop?

VALUET: This guy right here. (He jokingly points to the city dog catcher who just stopped by to drop off a pair of old work shoes.)they're all interesting. Not too many celebrities but most of the public officials like Mayor Betty Miller bring their shoes here. From the top on down, and we've never had a problem with any of them. But we've had some lulus. It depends if there's a full moon.

There's a lot of good people here in Inkster. We get out-of-towners too. A guy from Texas won't let anybody else work on his cowboy boots. Another guy from Florida stops here first on his way to visit relatives. Most of the customers are, to put it diplomatically, above average in character.

I'm a third generation shoe repairman. My grandfather repaired the shoes of some customers' grandfather's. There's a lot of old timers still in Inkster.

ANP: When did your grandfather start the business?

VALUET: Grandpa John, he, my dad and myself all share the same name, started the business in 1925. It was just by chance. He saw a building on Michigan Avenue up for sale. It was already established as a shoe repair business, and he bought it for $600. Today it's the oldest continuous business operating in Inkster. This building was built in 1970. The machinery is newer but you'll swear it's the same stuff my grandfather used. The only thing different is the cost.

My grandpa died in 1946, two years before I was born. My dad then took over from his dad. We're all named John. I bought the business in 1977. My teenage son, John the IV, is thinking about working in the business. Otherwise, when I'm done here, it'll be the end of the line. We'll wait and see.

ANP: Who else works in the family business?

VALUET: The main person is my mother, Carmel. She's worked the counter for 40 years. During World War II, the Army brought dump truck loads of shoes for repair. She repaired 'em while my dad worked at Wayne County General Hospital. When people think of this shop, they think of her first. Now they're both semi-retired and travel a lot. My only sister, Debbie, will take over mom's job. Neither of my brothers are in the business.

My wife Nancy works at the Westland Post Office. We also have a daughter, Cheri, who will graduate this year.

ANP: How do you like the shoe business?

VALUET: I'll never make a million dollars. But if you're ambitious and work hard, you'll make it. You have to do a good job for people. It's a job not many people know how to do anymore. From start to finish, you're on your feet all day.

Inkster used to be a wild and crazy town. But we've never been held up or broken into. I think this is the best location in town.

Local volunteer receives honors

As a troubled youth herself, Patti Mawbe of Romulus saw the need to help young people in her community. Recently, the Detroit Free Press recognized Mawbe for her outstanding contributions, specifically as one of the first volunteers in the Romulus Youth Assistance Program.

The mother of three children speaks out against drug use and abuse and discusses youth behavior and family problems. She is a 14-year resident of Romulus and is active in several community organizations.

Mawbe serves as treasurer on the Cory School Parent Teacher Organization and is vice president of the Romulus Little League and is an active member of the Romulus Substance Abuse Council and Community Action Council. She's been a Girl Scout leader and frequently volunteers for the American Cancer Society. For several years, Mawbe conducted a Stop Smoking Clinic.

In helping get the successful Youth Assistance Program off the ground, Mawbe recruited other volunteers through several speaking engagements before parents and local leaders. She received her own background from specialized training and courses in Livonia.

"I found a need," she said. "When someone says they need a volunteer, I want to be there. By participating in these different organizations, I feel I can reach more troubled youth through these programs.

Next up: All-Area

Although the 1987 high school baseball campaign officially ended on Saturday for most of the area teams, the season is not over for the Associated Newspapers' sports staff. The staff, in cooperation with the area coaches, is compiling the stats and figures on each individual ball player to decide whether to draft him for the coveted All-Area team. Moreover, during the next three weeks, the ANP will not only unveil its outstanding baseball team but also the top track, tennis and swimming teams as well. So, don't miss them.

Strong finish

Belleville shines in diamond finale

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville apparently left its best for the last.

After burying perennial baseball power Lincoln Park, 13-7, last week, Coach John Bertz and the Belleville Tigers brought the curtains down on the 1987 campaign with a 4-1 victory over Dearborn Fordson.

The two Tiger victories lifted Belleville to a 7-7 won-lost Wolverine 'A' Conference season. However, they finished 11-14 for the year.

"We showed a marked improvement over last year's team that posted a 7-13 record," noted Bertz who finished his sophomore coaching season. "But, thanks to a change in attitude and more confidence and commitment to the game, we managed to make some inroads. And I am looking for even better things a year from now."

Bertz sent senior right-hander Steve Ostrowski to the mound against Fordson's Tractors and the Tiger hurler responded with a 4-hitter in chalking up his second personal triumph in seven trips to the mound.

Ostrowski notched seven strikeouts and walked one.

The Tigers scored one run in the first and again in the second. They picked up single runs in the fourth and sixth frames as well.

Rodney Schellenberger led the assault on Fordson pitching as he connected for two singles, scored twice and batted in a run. Teammates Marty Duda and Kelly O'Neal came through with a double and a triple, respectively.

Belleville erupted for 13 runs against Nolan's Railsplitters as Ostrowski came up with three hits and four runs batted in. Bill Ashley contributed a pair of doubles and four RBIs, while O'Neal chased in three runs and also tripled for the winners.

O'Harris got credit for the victory after relieving Blain Armstrong who pitched for the first three and one-third innings before heading for the bench.

"I felt we played our best ball at the close of the season," Bertz later commented. "When you consider we won four crucial games in the stretch and almost upset Monroe, well, these kids showed a lot of character."

'And then there are none'

Huron loses a wild one in finals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, New Boston Huron had an "identity problem" on Saturday at the Class B district playoffs.

Coach Jon LaBeau's club scored a record-setting 15 runs in the seventh inning to destroy Milan 21-4 in the preliminary game. However, in the showdown for the district title and the right to advance to the regional, the Chiefs committed seven errors and fell 15-3 to Airport.

"It just didn't look like the same team," said LaBeau, whose club finished the season with a 10-11 won-lost overall record. "This is the first time this year that we played a game that we really weren't in it."

Huron and Airport had met twice during the regular season and Airport won both times by identical scores of 3-1. And their district championship game looked as if it was going to be another cliffhanger.

After Airport scored in the opening inning off of John Page, the Chiefs came right back in the bottom of that inning to tie the score when leadoff batter Rich Gubbini sent an Andy Butler pitch into orbit for a home run. Then, Jeff Debozy came to the plate and ripped a single. A hit-and-run on the next play apparently proved fatal for the Chiefs, who lost Debozy to an ankle injury.

"He (Debozy) severely injured his ankle and had to be taken to the hospital," LaBeau said. "I believe that had a psychological affect on our kids. We were forced to juggle our infield and had three players playing in unfamiliar positions."

That infield was, in part, responsible for seven costly errors.

Airport came back and broke the 1-1 deadlock with a pair of runs in the second, put four more on the scoreboard in the third and, although the Chiefs got two in the bottom of the third, Airport broke the game open with three runs in the fourth and sealed it with four more in the fifth.

Page and those who followed him to the mound also gave up 12 walks and hit one batter.

Butler, who had beaten the Chiefs, 3-1, in conference competition with a one-hitter, went the distance for the victory.

In the district opener, Huron batted around twice in the seventh inning, scored a school record 15 runs en route to the 21-4 victory.

Mike Smith went the distance to chalk up the victory. The senior right-hander struck out four and walked three for his eighth victory in 11 starts.

Going into the seventh, Huron had a slim 6-4 lead. But a three-run homer in that inning by pinch-hitter John Silva broke the game open.

"We just couldn't stop scoring in that seventh. We should have bottled some of those (runs) for the second game," said LaBeau.

Jim Umin collected four of the 18 Huron hits against Milan and also had a two-run homer in the seventh. Teammate Andy Jackson went three for four, including five RBIs and Rick Kozlowski finished with

Area thinclads fare well at state finals

Dave King climaxed an outstanding track career at Wayne Memorial by claiming the second place medal in the discus throw at the state finals staged in record-soaring temperatures over the weekend at Alma College.

After winning the Wolverine 'A' Conference title, King and his teammates made the trip to Alma to compete against the best athletes in the state.

King's toss of 168 feet, 4 inches was second only to Kalamazoo Loy Norrix's Kyle Wray. Wray struck gold when he put the discus into orbit and soared 184 feet, 2 inches.

King's effort earned for him a berth on the coveted all-state team.

"Obviously his (King's) outstanding performance was an excellent way to culminate his high school track career," noted Joe Grasley, Wayne Memorial head track coach. "Dave and field coach Chris Theodore are to be commended. They put in a lot of time and worked hard. The results reflect that."

None of the area high schools finished among the top 10 teams in the state. The state title went to Lansing Sexton, which piled up 64 points. Following the champ in the standing were: Kalamazoo Loy-Norriz (50.5), Ann Arbor Huron (39), Jackson (34), Troy (30), Monroe (27.5), Farmington (26), Saginaw (18), Detroit Mumford (17) and Kalamazoo (16).

"King's outstanding performance was an excellent way to climax an excellent prep career."
– Joe Grasley

Wayne also received a medal-winning performance from its shot putter, Steve Warner. Warner finished fifth in the state with a put of 55 feet, 2 inches.

Again, it was Wray who walked away with the gold in the event. Wray's toss of 60 feet, 1 1/2 inches was the best for the finals.

Grasley was also pleased with his young 400-meter relay team's performance at state. Tony Robertson, Tony Adams, Dave Rodriquez and Darren Tatum were clocked in the ninth-best time (43.4) in the event. And, considering that three of the four runners are underclassmen, the Zebras appear to have a lineup that could finish among the top next year at this time.

Adams and Rodriquez are sophs, while Robertson is a junior.

Incidentally, the 400-meter time established a record for Wayne.

Grasley, however, felt one of the biggest disappointments at the state finals came in the form of an accident that denied hurdler Steve Herndon a shot at a medal.

With 40 meters to go, Herndon was involved in a "neck-and-neck" battle to the finish when he was accidentally bumped and fell. He had no time to recover and his dream ended on the track.

"When you come so close, then an unexpected incident robs you, well, it hurts," Grasley said.

In the meantime, Westland John Glenn's 3,200-meter relay team returned home with a seventh-place state medal and a school record. Coach Richard Gordon used Dan Liedel to lead off, followed by Jerry Allen, Aaron Hughlett and anchor Cordell Crosby who finished in 8:01.4.

"When you come so close then an unexpected incident stops you, it's unfortunate."
– Richard Gordon

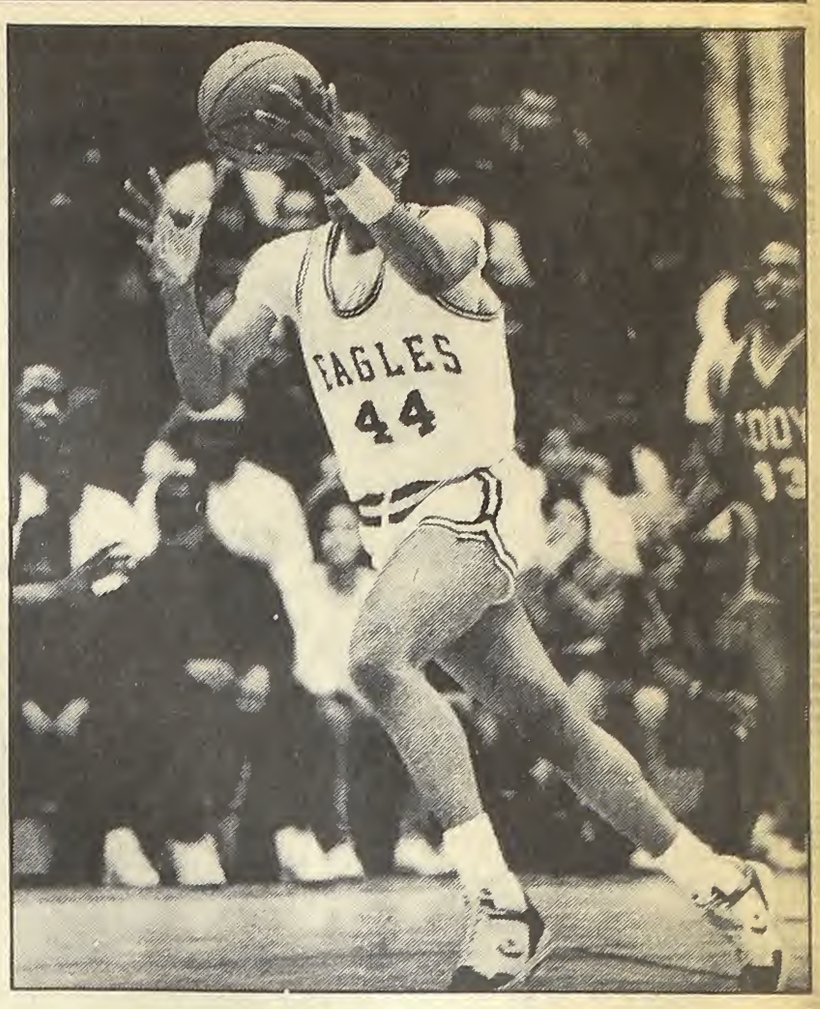
"They ran their best time," Gordon said. "And did an excellent job under extremely hot conditions. In fact, it was like a sauna out there."

Glenn also got a seventh place finish from Liedel in the 800-meter run. The good-looking senior toured the event in 1:56.1 for his medal. Kevin Wilson of Davison won the gold medal for his 1:53.1 effort.

Glenn high jumper, Anson Stroman, cleared 6 feet, 3 inches and just missed 6 feet, 6 inches, settling for a 10th place at state. Lansing Sexton's orlando Scott claimed the gold when he successfully made it over the 6 feet, 9 inch mark.

Glenn, which had a perfect Western Lakes Conference season, won all nine dual meets and the conference title.

"All-in-all, the state finals topped what I felt was a great season for us here at John Glenn," Gordon said.



Heading for Bowling Green

Juan Street, a 6-6, 195-pound senior forward-center at Romulus (above) will be heading for Bowling Green to join Jim Larranaga's club when falls rolls around. Street helped the Eagles win the 1986 state championship and in 1987 was a dominant figure in the Eagles' successful defense of their district title. He averaged 21 points and 12 rebounds in a 13-9 Romulus season. ANP photo by Guy Warren /staff photographer two for four and two runs batted in.

Wes Pauley also came off the bench in the seventh and went two for two in that wild inning.

Huron wrapped up a 10-11 won-lost season, and they also made their first appearance in a post season district championship game in more than two decades. Last year the Chiefs won a mere four games in 22 starts.

"We had a good season and even broke some records," LaBeau said. "We lost a few one-run games and no one, with the exception of that final game, really overwhelmed us."

Layer cards hole-in-one

With one stroke, Belleville golfer Darold Layer accomplished what thousands of golfers only dream of - - scoring a hole-in-one.

Layer, playing the front nine at Carleton Glen Golf Course, fired an ace on the 186-yard, 4-hole using a 4-wood. He said the ball went into the hole on its third bounce. It was his first ace, he added.

In the threesome also were Kelly Kubitsky and John Memmering.

Layer finished the 9 holes with a 43.

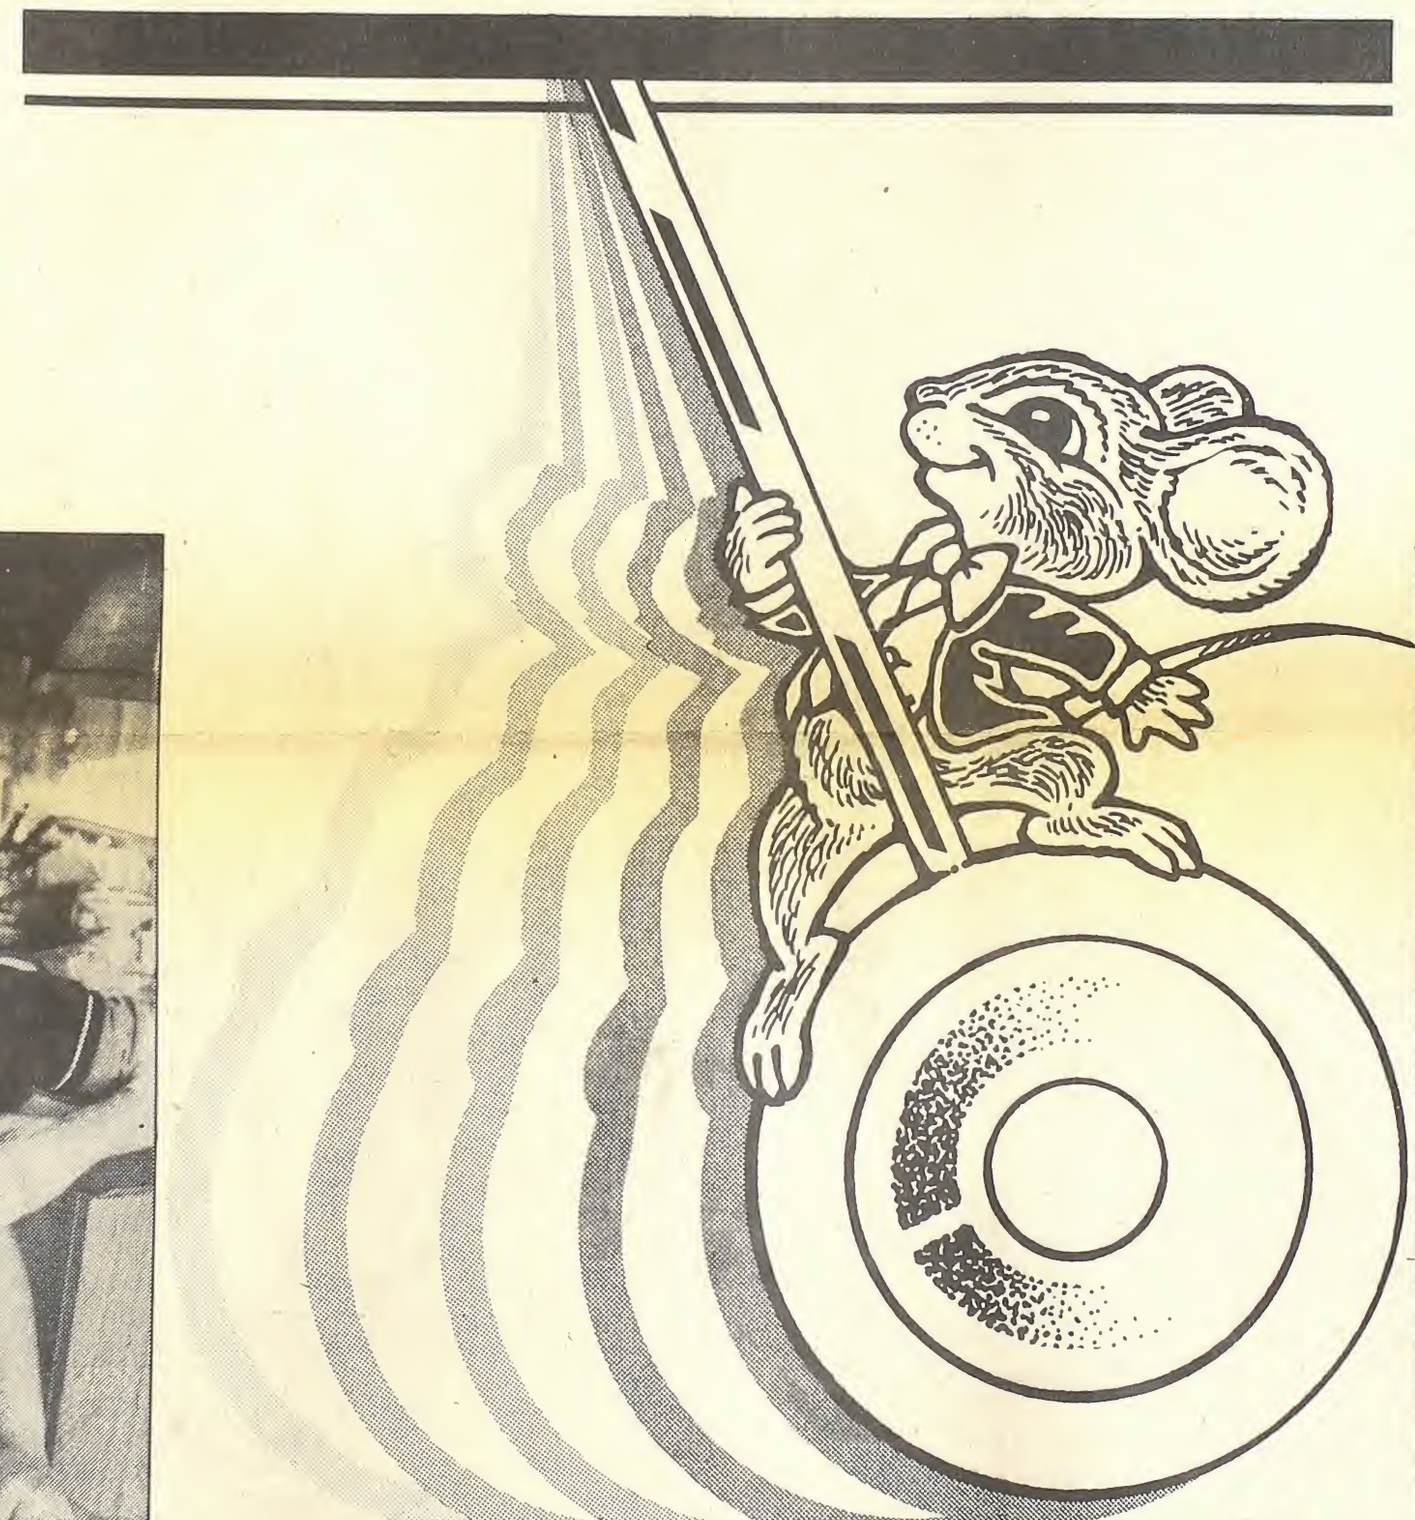
Making marriage last forever

Nuptial vows are strengthened by commitments and communication



By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Despite the differences in the lengths of their marriages, three local couples share a surprisingly similar formula for making their marriage work. And they all agree, "It ain't always easy."

The veterans of the group, Viola and Sylvester Talaga of Romulus, were married 50 years May 1. "Grit, sweat and a certain amount of togetherness never hurt us over the years, after all we had five kids," said Viola.

She spoke from the living room of the home she and her husband built 47 years ago. Before they expanded, the house was just 24 x 24. The third and final addition came on the day their youngest son was born, when Sylvester laid the last brick.

Sylvester, 76, retired from Smith and Young Construction Company in Wayne. Viola, 69, cooked for 55 years in several local restaurants including Brownie's Diner in Wayne for the last 20.

"It takes two to make a go of it. When he'd build a house, I'd be elected to wash the windows. You can't be pullin' in every direction to get where you want to go. Someone has to keep still and the other take over. You can't have two bosses," said Viola.

At the other end of the marriage spectrum are Jenny and Lenny Cicotte of Westland, just married one year this past April 5. These newlyweds tackled additional responsibilities eight months ago when their son, Timothy James was born.

They too have their "ups and downs." "We don't really fight," said Jenny, 20. Lenny will be 24 this month and works at Plastic Packages, where they met.

"We only knew one another for about five months before we married and ended up liking each other. We went out and ended up falling in love. Our marriage gets better every day. We share feelings. We're friends."

She admitted, "When we do argue, it's usually about money." Jenny also doesn't like to discuss former girl friends of Lenny's. "I get jealous," she said.

"We both have tempers. I'd rather walk away than fight," she added.

Balancing the range of marital bliss are the Sampson's from Belleville. Anne and Gary said "I do" 25 years ago this coming Nov. 10. They have two children, Anne, 21, and Gary, 19. Gary Sr. describes their many years together as "not too bad."

Further investigation finds the Sampsons truly, "enjoy doing things together and enjoy each other." They keep busy with their careers, church and community.

When they met, Gary recalled, "It was a true love story. I just came out of the service and she was in the convent. She and a friend were talking a trip and I worked in a Dearborn Travel Agency. It's like the joke, 'She met him in the travel agency and was his last resort.' "

Gary, 46, established the Adventure Travel Company shortly after. Anne, 44, left the convent and has worked as a dental hygienist full- and part-time while their children grew up.

Their disagreements center around their dual careers and the children. "Fortunately, we never fight about money. And after any heated discussion, I admit we've screamed at one another, we talk about it and find the real problem. Usually the other person was right," he conceded.

"We're social and that really helps. We give parties and attend parties. It plays an important part in our lives," explained Gary.

Gary proudly noted that of five original couples who they've remained friends since the beginning years, all will be married 25 years this year. "We're all still married," Gary said with a surprised tone.

Another surprise are the Talagas. Sylvester and three of his brothers will all celebrate their 50th year of marriage this year. They too said, "That's unusual."

Playful relationship is healthy one

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

While it may be true that the family that prays together, stays together, some psychologists also believe that "the couple that plays together, stays together."

In fact, a survey of married couples revealed that both men and women ranked the top reason for the endurance of their marriages as "my spouse is my best friend." Also, high on the list was the comment "we laugh together" and "we share outside interests and hobbies."

Herb Goldberg, author of "The New Male-Female Relationship", believes the key to successful, lasting relationships is being "friends, companions, playmates and lovers."

Goldberg, who has written several books on relationships and has lectured extensively, spoke to area psychologists and social workers attending a seminar in Southfield.

"A playful relationship is motivated by the pleasure of the other person's presence – conversations flow, each retain their identities, there is mutual acceptance," Goldberg said. "There is energy in each other's presence, spontaneous laughter, naturally good habits, a generosity of spirit and you like yourself. Celebrations and events are continuously created for enjoyment. If one's partner were not one's mate, one would want him/her for a friend anyway."

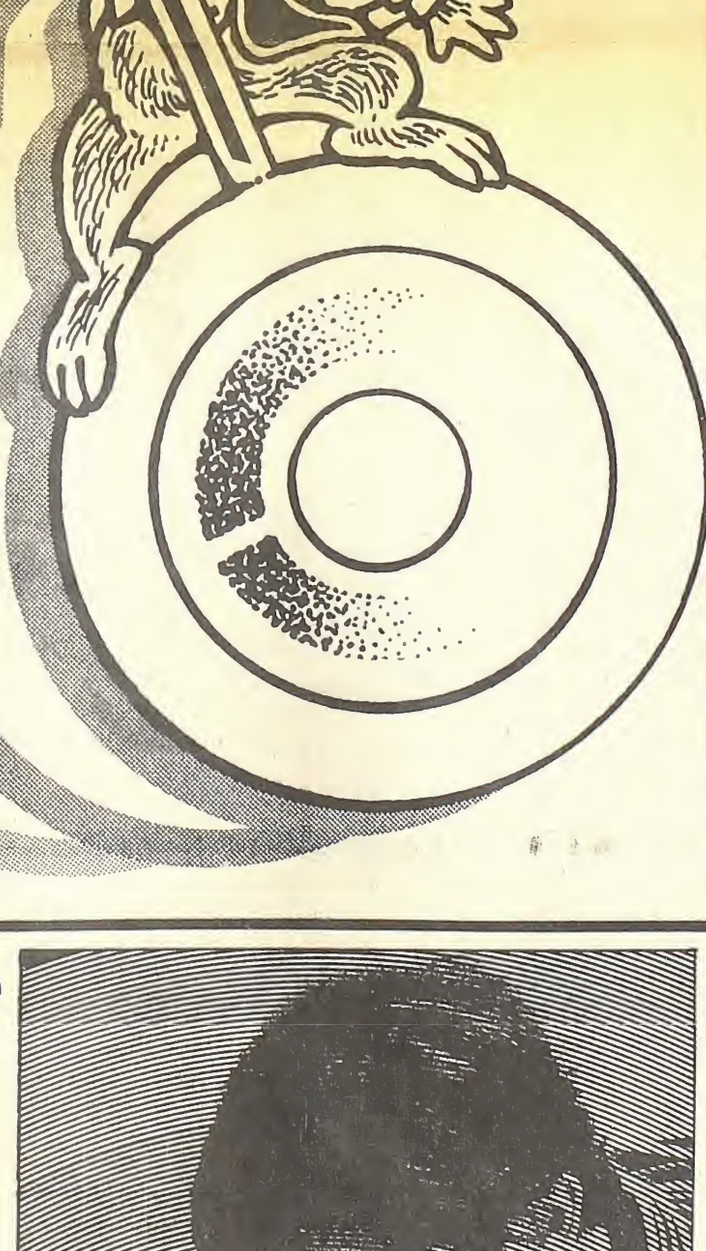
Goldberg noted in his book that the playful relationship requires little or no expensive "toys" or materialistic structure to make it feel good. "It is an effortless interaction, no working at anything, no trying to communicate, no self-conscious sharing, no learning to understand each other," he said.

The author asked, "Have you ever spent a day with a close friend with whom you felt a special sense of ease, lack of self-consciousness and freedom to express yourself? You didn't have to be careful or censor yourself in any way for fear of saying something inappropriate, stupid or a remark that would be taken in the wrong way? Because you felt you were so accepted, cherished and expressive, you also liked and appreciated yourself more."

Goldberg contrasted the feeling of being with a close friend to that of some traditional couples who "work" at finding ways to make the relationship feel good. The male tends to overplan and be self-conscious, Goldberg said, while the female is preoccupied by "what shall I wear" and her expectations of having a good time.

The couple who have not discovered the secret of being friends and playmates, Goldberg said, are the ones we see sitting silently across from each other at a restaurant. Both are well-dressed and well-groomed, he said. They appear to be ready for an evening of fun, but they clearly are ill at ease with each other.

Being friends, companions, playmates and lovers as well as being marriage partners will increase your changes of establishing a lasting relationship, Goldberg said. It may call for some changes of attitudes in traditional marriages, but the results may bring lifelong benefits.



Marriage trends change with time

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

A University of Michigan marriage counselor credits the women's movement of the 1960s with the positive changes presently occurring in marriage during the '80s.

Bob Funaro, director of student development on the U of M Dearborn campus, noted several trends have surfaced after listening to over 10,000 individual couples from the past 10 years and more and more people are singing, "Get Me to the Church on Time."

"We've seen a lot of things," said Funaro who has compiled many "informal statistics" with Christine, his wife of seven years, also a marriage counselor at U of M. They have four children under the age of six.

Marriage is not what it used to be thanks to the women's movement, the 42 year-old Funaro noted, as the roles of men and women in marriage came under intense examination.

The results would benefit both individuals. "For the first time in over a decade, the number of divorces are down and marriages are increasing. Some positive trends are finally beginning to surface," he said.

"A significant number of couples are postponing their first marriage and waiting longer. The average age is about 24 years old. Some wait until they are more financially or emotionally secure. Pregnancy is not a reason to get married anymore. Couples understand it is healthy to get married because you have a relationship, not because you're pregnant," he stated.

Marriage preparation classes have become increasingly popular as couples want more education about marriage, he noted. "Many individuals used to be afraid to say no. Now, if they're undecided, they wait. They're more assertive and this is a mature sign," he added.

"There's a marked increase in numbers of couples asking pertinent questions about marriage. What will keep the marriage growing? Or do I have to put up with this? More and more men and women are not going to be subserviant to each other. They clearly expect equality and a division of labor within their relationship," Funaro explained.

These trends are consistent with counseling of couples throughout the metro area, he noted. "Attitudes about marriage are a lot different than they were ten years ago."

Marriages end in divorce after two major time periods: fifty percent occur during the first 18 months of marriage when "fantasies disappear" and in 25 years, when the yougest children leave home. "Divorce after the so-called seven-year itch is not monumental," he added.

Country cooking brings back 'down-home' taste

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

As urban development encroaches upon her rural Canton Township home, Janet Sylvester stills cooks, bakes, grills and cans some of the best home-made food this side of the county line.

Her dill pickles border on perfection.

Sylvester prefers to prepare simple food, yet she doesn't mind experimenting with involved gourmet recipes. At age 48, Sylvester is married and has two children and is a lifelong resident of Canton.

"I've always enjoyed cooking. Our first year of marriage, we both gained 10 pounds. As a young girl, I learned early to cook for a large family. And then I had to learn to cut back," explained Sylvester."Bob (her husband) and I grow all our own vegetables. My mother was Italian, but she liked all kinds of food."

Sylvester returns to her Lotz Road house shortly before her husband does each day. She teaches first-graders at Roosevelt-McGrath Elementary School in Wayne. Her husband works at Williams International in Walled Lake. Their sons, Marty, 25, recently completed college and David, 23, was recently married.

And, Sylvester said, the two now have the daughter they've waited 23 years for.

In the fall, Sylvester loads the school bus with her young students who spend the day on the family's four acres.

"They call this my farm. These are city kids. And are they surprised when they learn how potatoes grow. It's like they never had a clue. They're thrilled. They never forget it," she said.

But the Sylvester garden isn't only an educational experience. Corn from the large garden provides the main course during the annual family corn roast.

The Sylvesters host many dinners and cookouts. They belong to a gourmet club with four other couples.

"I have ingredients in my cupboard I never even thought of before. The club provides the chance to try a lot of recipes. If you would pay for meals like this in a restaurant it would cost $500. It costs us no where near that much. We do Jewish, Japanese, German. It's great. I'll admit it, we like to party," she said.

Mother really did know best

just desserts

sue willett

My mother was considered the best pie maker in the neighborhood. She always used to laugh at herself, claiming that she couldn't make a cake if her life depended on it, but pies, well, her pies were known far and wide.

For years, this was a mystery to me, until a co-worker, Joan Hines, unearthed a cookbook of her mother's published in 1940. Sure enough, it was the same one my mother used to use, and the pies listed are the same ones which brought Mildred her fame. In checking with Mildred about the recipes, she confessed. This little book was her Bible, and the reason she couldn't make cake was really simple, she lost that section of the book.

The things we learn as we grow up.

At any rate, these recipes have been treasures since my childhood--don't ask how long ago that was, and are still excellent.

Carrier of the Month

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

Karen Deschaine, 12, of Westland has been chosen as the Associated Newspaper Carrier of the Month.

Karen, who is a 6th grader at Madison Elementary School, is the daughter of Tom and Nancy Deschaine, of Pamela Street.

Karen has been a carrier for Associated Newspapers for just three months, but in that short time, she has managed to take a sampler route and build it up to 47 paying customers.

Byron Spencer, circulation director of Associated Newspapers, expressed his happiness at Karen's being named as the winner of the Carrier of the Month honor.

"She's so outstanding. She's an inspiration to the whole department."

When she's not in school or delivering papers, Karen can be found playing soccer, or practicing gymnastics, which are two of her favorite hobbies. She belongs to the Westland Youth Soccer League and is a member of the Michigan Academy of Gymnastics.

2. In Memoriam

IN LOVING Memor of My Husband
Robert L. Robertson
June 8, 1985

I often take our favorite walks,
Stand where we used to stand,
And look with tear-dimmed eyes
Upon the view you thought so grand;
And, standing, feel that surge of joy
Familiar with each thought of you
Thus, live again those treasured hours
So shining, and, alas! so few.
Sadly missed also by children and granddaughters.
